Councilman Reichenbach, a McCaskey alumnus, remarked that he has been a fan of the basketball team for many years. He said their aggressive play and teamwork this year was a joy to watch and that the players gave McCaskey fans reason to be proud.

Councilwoman Williams thanked the players for showing a side of young people that is positive and congratulated them for their success.

Mayor Gray also praised the team for their tenacity, despite not being well ranked among teams going into post-season play. The team set a high example for the city, he said. The mayor also thanked Coach Powell for all he has done for the youth of the community for many years.

President Graupera also added his congratulations to the players and coaches and the staff for a great season. He remarked that the last time a McCaskey basketball team was honored by City Council was in 2008. He said they should not wait so long before returning.

A man rose to praise the parents of the boys for supporting their children. The parents in the audience rose and were recognized.

One of the coaches praised the players for their perseverance, against the odds.

READING OF PETITIONS, COMMUNICATIONS & MEMORIALS – A public hearing was held on the inter-municipal transfer of a restaurant liquor license. The transfer application was filed by root LLC, for use at 227 W. Walnut St. Solicitor Neil Albert conducted the hearing.

Mr. Albert read into the record the opinion of Mayor Gray that the transfer of a liquor license, owned by Ruby Tuesday, Inc., of East Hempfield Township and now held in safekeeping, would not adversely affect the health, morals and peace of the city.

Mr. Albert noted that the hearing was properly advertised in a newspaper of general circulation on March 15, 2015.

Mr. Melvin Newcomer addressed Council members as attorney for the applicant, Robert A. Garpstas, Jr., the principal of root LLC. Mr. Newcomer clarified that the restaurant will be at 223 W. Walnut St. That error was made in the initial application and has since been corrected. He said Mr. Garpstas plans to open a vegan restaurant and bar in that location. The plans received zoning approval at the Zoning Hearing Board's March 16 meeting, Mr. Newcomer said.

Mr. Newcomer said the restaurant will have seating for about 90 people in a 2,300-square-foot area. It will be the first vegan restaurant and bar in Lancaster, Mr. Garpstas believes.

Mayor Gray asked if there are other vegan restaurants. Mr. Garpstas said there is one in Philadelphia. The wait for reservations there is two months, he said.

Mr. Albert closed testimony.

Councilwoman Sorace made a motion to add Resolution No. 20-2015 to the agenda. Councilman Soto seconded the motion.

The motion was approved by a unanimous roll-call vote.

Councilman Reichenbach then made a motion to approve the transfer of the liquor license, through the passage of Resolution No. 20-2015. The motion was seconded by Councilman Soto.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT & REVITALIZATION COMMITTEE – Councilman Reichenbach reported that the City Revitalization and Improvement Zone Authority board met earlier in the day. The board voted to delete nine acres from the CRIZ zone, including property owned by Lancaster General Hospital, Burle Industries and the Fulton Theater. Those property owners had requested their properties be removed. Nine replacement acres were added to the zone where the board hopes to spur redevelopment. Those additions are: along New Holland Avenue, near Urban Place; at Plum and Walnut streets; and on South Duke Street, near the Conestoga Plaza.

Mr. Reichenbach said the mayor and administration have requested that the state not fine businesses who failed to report last year's tax information for CRIZ tabulation. It is a new requirement and they do not wish it to be punitive.

Mr. Reichenbach also announced that two new projects will now be developed within the CRIZ zone: the Marriott Tower, along the first block of East King Street; and the Surveyor Hotel, in the 100 block of North Prince Street.

Randy Patterson, director of the city's Economic Development & Neighborhood Revitalization Department, commented on Ms. Groshong's role as chairperson of the Historical Commission. Mr. Patterson said it takes a person of patience and quality to lead meetings and direct constructive conversations in which there are differing views on architecture and achieve consensus and positive results. He called it a talent of Ms. Groshong's which is not often recognized.

Ms. Groshong thanked council members for the honor. She said she could barely remember half of the projects listed. She said it has been a pleasure to help guide the projects presented to her.

REPORT OF THE MAYOR - Mayor Gray read the following prepared statement:

You may have read news reports that the City Redevelopment Authority is moving to acquire ownership of the Bulova Building. An RFP is being prepared that will provide developers with 60-90 days to present a proposal to the Redevelopment Authority for development of the east side of Lancaster Square. This would include the Bulova building, the adjacent plaza area owned by the City, and the annex of the Hotel Lancaster property. The Authority will then select a developer and prepare the final Redevelopment Proposal to be submitted to the City Planning Commission and City Council for approval. Once those approvals are obtained the Authority would move to take the property by eminent domain. This process will likely take until October or November of this year. At any time during this process the Bulova parties could reach agreement to sell the property to another interested party, with all liens removed. This effort by the Redevelopment Authority, with the City's support, is to obtain a clean title to the property and put it in the hands of a developer.

With the change in seasons, several projects will be underway over the coming months.

- 1. Renovations to the Visitors Center in Penn Square has already begun and is expected to be completed by the beginning of June.*

- 7. Paving projects scheduled during this year's 2015 Street Improvement Program will begin in April, and a list of water main replacement and repaving projects is attached.*

Earlier this month, members of our Stormwater Program Staff conducted a training workshop for engineers, architects, developers, and private property owners to explain our storm water ordinance and green infrastructure practices in general. Penn Stone owner John McGrann hosted the workshop and shared some feedback from those who attended. Mr. McGrann indicated that many expressed their appreciation for the workshop itself, but most particularly for giving them access to the people they can contact for their stormwater-related questions. Our Stormwater Program staff will continue to provide quarterly training sessions. The next session will be on the credit system, and more details will follow.

The mayor also said he had just received a text that the city had been recognized with an achievement award from the Lancaster County Planning Commission. The award is for the design and construction of the City Hall Annex. The award was announced earlier that evening.
